How YOU University works

This is not homework. It's a training plan for the part of wrestling nobody can see from the bleachers.

1 LEARN
Read the book section and the Learn page. 5 minutes.

2 BUILD
Make your own tool: your words, your cues.

3 MAT TEST
Use it in a real drill. Pick A or B.

4 REWIND
Days later, recall it without peeking. That's how it sticks.

THE DEAL

You choose. Your cues, your Mat Test, your words. Generic answers don't help you, and nobody is grading this.

You prove it. Progress means evidence: a tally, a date, a moment on the mat. Not a feeling.

You're not alone. Several Mat Tests use a partner. Helping a teammate get 1% better is part of the work.

Your privacy. You decide what you share. You can always answer privately or out loud instead of in writing.

WHAT THE LABELS MEAN

FROM THE BOOK	Knight's idea, paraphrased from his publisher's own descriptions. Source keys like [K6] are listed on the last page. Always check it against your copy.
THE SCIENCE	Peer-reviewed research. Source keys like [S7].
MERRILL	Merrill program language: CPR3, Coach Arnie's routines and prompts.
YOU UNIVERSITY ORIGINAL	Exercises written for this workbook. They are NOT from the book.

THE SEASON MAP: EACH UNIT BUILDS ON THE LAST

1 Warrior First
Close the gap between Practice-you and Match-you

2 Love Nerves
Read your body's signals as fuel and find YOUR ready zone

3 Breathe Like a Bluejay
Use Long Breath and Quick Reset on command

4 BIG DOG Talk
Turn little-dog thoughts into BIG DOG cues

5 Bank the Proof
Build a Confidence Bank and a BIG-DOG highlight reel

6 Go-Time
Run Go-Time scripts and If-Then plans

7 Flip the Switch
Build a Competition Process, a First Job, and a reset loop

★ Be You
Put it all on one card and wrestle like you

BASELINE

Starting Line

A snapshot, not a test or a diagnosis. Honest beats impressive.

★ MERRILL

Merrill's Five Cs (from Coach Arnie's packet). Circle 1-10 for how often this shows up in REAL MATCHES, then write one piece of evidence. The total isn't the point. The pattern is.

C	1 = RARELY	10 = EVERY MATCH	EVIDENCE (A REAL MOMENT)
Commitment Dedication to the work and the goal	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Courage Willingness to attempt, engage, and face challenge	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Concentration Keep or return attention to the job	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Control Regulate your response and stay useful	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Confidence Belief supported by preparation, mastery, and evidence	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

The moment in a match where my mind most often gets in my way:

If this workbook works, what will a teammate SEE me doing differently by February?

UNIT 1 / LEARN

1% Better

Warrior First

Mental toughness is trained, not born.

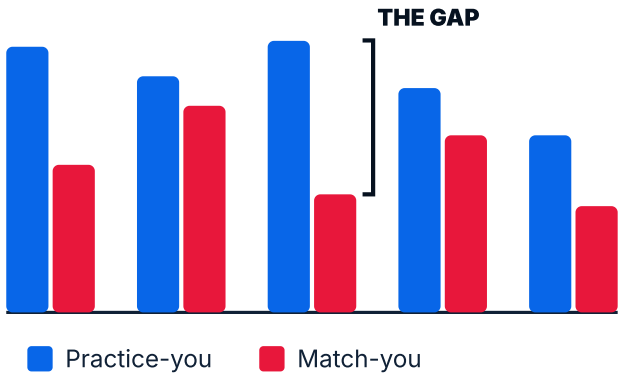

Skill you'll own: Close the gap between Practice-you and Match-you

MATCH MOMENT

Tuesday in the room you hit your single-leg finish on everybody. Saturday at the quad, first match, you never take a shot. Same legs. Same technique. What changed?

Before you read on: what would YOU do in the next 5 seconds?

Same skills, two settings. The gap is trainable.

FROM THE BOOK

Knight's publisher frames Winning State around one promise: wrestle in competition as well as, or better than, you wrestle in practice. He argues mental toughness is built with tactics, not genetics, and that it is not the same thing as confidence. Confidence is a feeling that comes and goes. Toughness is what you do when doubt shows up anyway. [K1 K2 K5 K6]

Find it in your copy: Chapter ____ Page ____

One line from the book that stuck with me (write it, then say it in your own words):

THE SCIENCE

Mental skills work like technique: they improve when practiced, not when admired. Imagery, self-talk, and pre-match routines have all improved performance in controlled studies, including studies of athletes your age. Doubt before a match is normal. It isn't proof that you're soft. [S1 S12 S14]

MERRILL

1% Better is the engine of YOU University: one usable skill at a time, and one controllable focus a day (Today's 1%). This unit finds the gap you'll aim your 1% at.

UNIT 1 / BUILD YOUR TOOL

1% Better

The Gap Map

YOU UNIVERSITY ORIGINAL

Rate each skill twice: how it shows up in the practice room, and how it shows up in real matches. 1 = rarely, 5 = every time.

SKILL (COACH ARNIE'S EXAMPLES + YOURS)	PRACTICE-ME	MATCH-ME	GAP
Good stance the whole time	1 2 3 4 5	1 2 3 4 5

Stay calm after a mistake	1 2 3 4 5	1 2 3 4 5
My own: _____	1 2 3 4 5	1 2 3 4 5

What shows up in matches that isn't there in practice? (crowd, scoreboard, her record, who's watching...)

My biggest gap, written as ONE behavior I can control (Today's 1%):

UNIT 1 / TEST IT ON THE MAT

1% Better

MAT TEST

Your choice: pick ONE. A skill you only write about is a skill you don't have.

☐ A. Pressure Rep

Ask your coach to add stakes to one live go: start down 0-2, 30 seconds, team watching. Did your 1% behavior show up? Tally it.

Date tried: _____ Tally / result:

☐ B. Practice Like It's Saturday

Before your first live go, do your real match warm-up and walk to center like it's a match. Compare how you wrestle to a normal go.

Date tried: _____ Tally / result:

HONEST REFLECTION

Specifics beat feelings. Name the period, the position, the words.

1 Think of your last real match. Name one moment (period, score, position) when Match-you wrestled differently than Practice-you. What were you thinking right before it?

2 Knight separates feeling confident from being tough. Describe a time you did NOT feel confident but did the tough thing anyway. What exactly did you do?

REWIND: NO PEEKING / PREDICT

PREDICT (no wrong answers): What's one thing you think the best wrestlers do with their minds that you don't do yet?

UNIT 2 / LEARN

Be You

Love Nerves

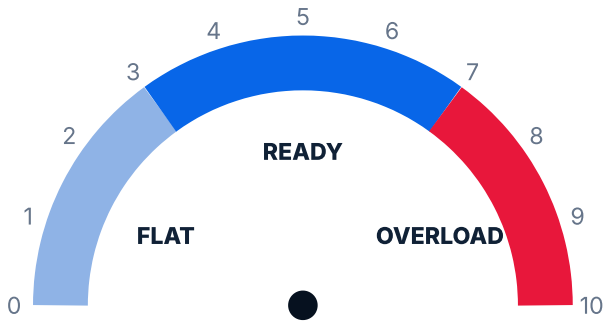

Your body isn't scared. It's getting ready.

Skill you'll own: Read your body's signals as fuel and find YOUR ready zone

MATCH MOMENT

Bullpen at regionals. Your stomach flips, your hands are cold and sweaty, and your legs feel shaky. The girl next to you looks totally calm. Your brain says: something's wrong with me.

Before you read on: what would YOU do in the next 5 seconds?

Your READY band may differ from a teammate's.

FROM THE BOOK

In the publisher's 7-part article series, Knight's Tactic #1 is Love Nerves. Nerves don't go away, even for elite athletes, so the job is to use them. His article on adrenaline treats it as a power source to contain and use, not a sign that something is wrong. [K3 K4 K6]

Find it in your copy: Chapter ____ Page ____

One line from the book that stuck with me (write it, then say it in your own words):

THE SCIENCE

Anxiety and excitement feel almost the same in your body: fast heart, quick breath, buzzing energy. In experiments, people who said "I am excited" performed better than people who told themselves "I am calm" (Brooks, 2014). Each athlete also has a personal ready zone. Some wrestle best fired up and others steadier (Hanin's IZOF model). [S4 S5 S6]

MERRILL

Be You: your best number on the dial belongs to you. You don't have to look calm like the girl next to you in the bullpen. You have to find your own ready zone.

UNIT 2 / BUILD YOUR TOOL

Be You

Signal → Story → Fuel

YOU UNIVERSITY ORIGINAL

Catch the signal, notice the little-dog story you attach to it, then translate it into fuel. One row is done for you.

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

FLAT — Circle your usual bullpen number. Star your best-match number. — OVERLOAD

What pushes me OVER my zone? What drops me UNDER it?

My UP-SHIFT move (when I'm flat) and my DOWN-SHIFT move (when I'm overloaded):

MAT TEST

Your choice: pick ONE. A skill you only write about is a skill you don't have.

☐ A. Read-Rate-Wrestle

Before 3 live goes: rate your number, say your fuel line (quietly is fine), wrestle, then rate how well you wrestled. Look for your pattern.

Date tried: _____ Tally / result:

☐ B. Center-Mat Rep

Coach puts two wrestlers in the center for a 30-second go while the team watches. Use "I'm excited" or your own fuel line before the whistle.

Date tried: _____ Tally / result:

HONEST REFLECTION

Specifics beat feelings. Name the period, the position, the words.

1 Your best match ever: what number were you on the dial? How do you know? Describe what your body and mind were doing.

UNIT 3 / LEARN

Core Four Breath

Breathe Like a Bluejay

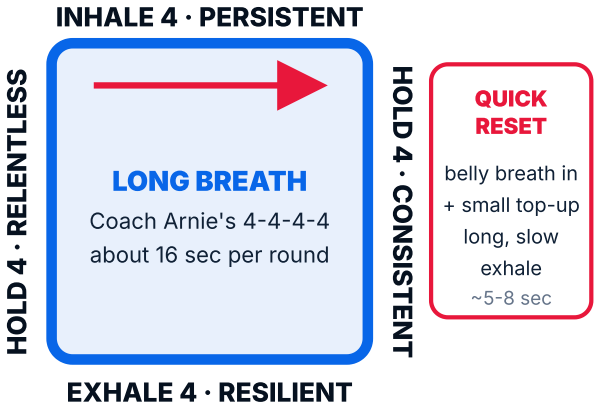

The one part of your stress response you can steer on purpose.

Skill you'll own: Use Long Breath and Quick Reset on command

MATCH MOMENT

Out of bounds, down 3-1, 40 seconds left in the second. The ref is bringing you back to center. You have about 8 seconds, your chest is heaving, and your mind is on the scoreboard.

Before you read on: what would YOU do in the next 5 seconds?

FROM THE BOOK

Knight teaches Gut Breathing as a skill to calm nerves and sharpen focus. His adrenaline article names systematic breathing as the way to bring the surge "down a notch" without losing your fire. [K4 K6]

Find it in your copy: Chapter ____ Page ____

One line from the book that stuck with me (write it, then say it in your own words):

THE SCIENCE

In a randomized study, five minutes a day of slow breathing with a long exhale lowered breathing rate and improved mood and anxiety more than a mindfulness control (Balban et al., 2023). The exhale is your brake pedal. If you ever feel dizzy, stop and breathe normally. [S7]

MERRILL

Coach Arnie's 4-4-4-4 routine puts the Core Four into every breath: Inhale 4 = Persistent. Hold 4 = Consistent. Exhale 4 = Resilient. Hold 4 = Relentless.

UNIT 3 / BUILD YOUR TOOL

Core Four Breath

Breath Lab

YOU UNIVERSITY ORIGINAL

Test it like a scientist. Count your breaths for 30 seconds (or check your pulse), do the tool, then count again.

TRIAL	BREATHS / 30S BEFORE	AFTER	FEELING 0-10 BEFORE	AFTER
At rest, Long Breath x3
After a hard drill, Long Breath x3
After a hard drill, Quick Reset x2

Read the data honestly. If nothing changed, that's useful too. Try the other tool or a slower exhale, and test again.

Where in a match do I get about 8 seconds? (out-of-bounds, between periods, injury time, choice...) List 3:

I'll use LONG BREATH when... I'll use QUICK RESET when...

UNIT 3 / TEST IT ON THE MAT

Core Four Breath

MAT TEST

Your choice: pick ONE. A skill you only write about is a skill you don't have.

☐ A. Whistle Reset

After every live-go whistle today, do one Quick Reset before you're back in your stance. Your partner tallies how many you remember.

Date tried: _____ Tally / result:

☐ B. Core Four Warm-Up

Run three rounds of 4-4-4-4 (say the Pillar words in your head) right before your first live go. Rate your focus 1-10 afterward.

Date tried: _____ Tally / result:

HONEST REFLECTION

Specifics beat feelings. Name the period, the position, the words.

1 When did your breathing get away from you today? Name the position and the drill. What happened to your wrestling in the next 10 seconds?

2 Which felt more useful, Long Breath or Quick Reset? Name the exact moment this week you'll use it.

REWIND: NO PEEKING

UNIT 2: Translate this signal into fuel: "My legs feel shaky."

UNIT 1: Name the behavior you chose for Today's 1%.

UNIT 4 / LEARN

Persistent

BIG DOG Talk

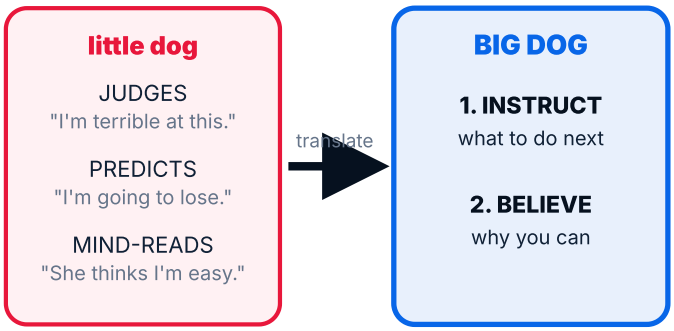

Talk to yourself like a great corner coach.

Skill you'll own: Turn little-dog thoughts into BIG DOG cues

MATCH MOMENT

You shoot a single, she sprawls hard and catches a front headlock. You fight out, but now you're thinking, "Don't shoot again, she'll just snap you down." It's the second period and you haven't attacked since.

Before you read on: what would YOU do in the next 5 seconds?

Short. About the effect you want. Practiced until automatic.

FROM THE BOOK

The Winning State series describes a little dog and a BIG Dog inside every competitor, and says the athletes who learn to control them leave victorious. Knight teaches that BIG-DOG self-talk is more than "positive" self-talk. It's competition talk you use to settle down and strengthen belief. [K6 K7 K3]

Find it in your copy: Chapter ____ Page ____

One line from the book that stuck with me (write it, then say it in your own words):

THE SCIENCE

A meta-analysis of self-talk studies found that it improves performance. Instruction cues help most with precise skills and motivation cues help most with effort, and practiced cues beat ones you make up on the spot (Hatzigeorgiadis et al., 2011). Cues about the effect you want ("drive through her") beat cues about body parts (Chua et al., 2021). Talking to yourself as "you" can make pressure easier to handle (Kross et al., 2014). [S1 S2 S3]

MERRILL

Persistent means you keep working when the first attempt doesn't work. BIG DOG talk is how persistence sounds in your head after a missed shot: the next instruction, not a verdict.

UNIT 4 / BUILD YOUR TOOL

Persistent

Cue Translator

YOU UNIVERSITY ORIGINAL

Write the little dog's exact words, then the BIG DOG answer in two parts: INSTRUCT (what to do next) and BELIEVE (why you can).

SITUATION	LITTLE DOG SAYS	BIG DOG: INSTRUCT	BIG DOG: BELIEVE
Missed shot, front headlock	"She's too strong."	"Head up, hands, circle out."	"You've fought out of worse."
Neutral:
Top:
Bottom:

My go-to cue (2-4 words, about the EFFECT I want, not my body parts):

Say it as "you" (Ex: "You're fine. Hands, angle, finish."):

UNIT 4 / TEST IT ON THE MAT

Persistent

MAT TEST

Your choice: pick ONE. A skill you only write about is a skill you don't have.

☐ A. Cue Count

In drilling, after every missed rep, say your INSTRUCT cue and redo the rep. Your partner counts cues. Goal: no rep ends on a verdict.

Date tried: _____ Tally / result:

☐ B. Little Dog Drill

In light live, your partner calls wrestling-only little-dog lines ("You're tired," "She's got you"). You answer with your BIG DOG cue and keep moving. No personal comments, ever.

Date tried: _____ Tally / result:

HONEST REFLECTION

Specifics beat feelings. Name the period, the position, the words.

1 Write the exact words your little dog used at your last tough moment. Don't clean them up. When does that voice show up most: neutral, top, bottom, or before the match?

2 Which cue did you actually use today? Did it change what your body did? What's the evidence?

REWIND: NO PEEKING

UNIT 3: Count the 4-4-4-4 and write the Pillar word for each phase.

UNIT 1: Why isn't confidence enough by itself, according to Knight?

UNIT 5 / LEARN

Consistent

Bank the Proof

Belief built on evidence, not hype.

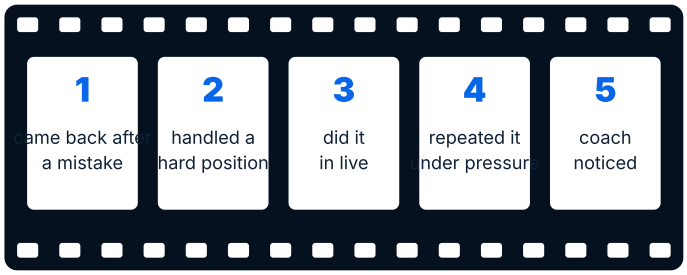

Skill you'll own: Build a Confidence Bank and a BIG-DOG highlight reel

MATCH MOMENT

The night before conference you see the bracket. Your first match is the girl who majored you in December, and your brain plays the December highlights on loop.

Before you read on: what would YOU do in the next 5 seconds?

YOUR BIG-DOG HIGHLIGHT REEL

Kinds of proof that count. Wins are optional. Responses are required.

FROM THE BOOK

Knight teaches athletes to build a BIG-DOG highlight reel of their own mentally tough successes: you've done it before, and you can do it again. He argues the goal is to believe you can succeed, not to chase a confidence feeling that can vanish in one exchange. [K6 K5]

Find it in your copy: Chapter ____ Page ____

One line from the book that stuck with me (write it, then say it in your own words):

THE SCIENCE

Your strongest source of self-belief is mastery: things you have actually done (Bandura, 1997). In a goal-setting meta-analysis, process goals produced large gains in self-efficacy (d = 1.11; Williamson et al., 2022). Real evidence beats empty affirmations because your brain can check it. [S8 S9]

MERRILL

The Merrill Confidence Bank stores proof, not empty affirmations. Consistent deposits every practice are what make it worth something on tournament day.

UNIT 6 / LEARN

Relentless

Go-Time

Rehearse the fight, not the trophy.

Skill you'll own: Run Go-Time scripts and If-Then plans

MATCH MOMENT

You've pictured your high-crotch finish a hundred times. In the match she sprawls and whizzers, and the ref is warning you both for stalling. Nothing in your mental movie covered this.

Before you read on: what would YOU do in the next 5 seconds?

Frame 3 is where matches are decided.

FROM THE BOOK

Knight teaches Go-Time Visualization and calls it much stronger than visualizing "victory," because fantasizing about winning doesn't turn off doubt. [K6]

Find it in your copy: Chapter ____ Page ____

One line from the book that stuck with me (write it, then say it in your own words):

THE SCIENCE

Research agrees. Daydreaming only about success can drain the energy you bring (Oettingen & Mayer, 2002). Picturing the goal AND the obstacle, then making an if-then plan, helped high schoolers do 60% more practice work (Duckworth et al., 2011). Imagery improves motor skills in kids and teens (d = 0.49; Frank et al., 2023), especially when it's wrestling-specific and in real time. [S18 S10 S11 S12 S13]

MERRILL

Relentless means you keep creating pressure and action. In your head that means the movie keeps going after she sprawls, whizzers, or scores.

UNIT 6 / BUILD YOUR TOOL

Relentless

Go-Time Script + If-Then Plans

YOU UNIVERSITY ORIGINAL

Script one REAL exchange in four frames. Use what you'd SEE, HEAR, and FEEL, at real speed. Frame 3 is the part everybody skips.

1 SET
See the mat, feel your stance, hear the whistle.

2 GO
Your first attack or first move.

3 GRIT
What she does to stop it.

4 ANSWER
Your adjustment. Keep wrestling.

IF-THEN PLANS: DECIDE NOW SO YOU DON'T HAVE TO DECIDE UNDER PRESSURE

Neutral: If she... ...then I will

Top or bottom: If she... ...then I will

Mental: If I give up the first takedown... ...then I will

Flip the Switch

Everyday mode off. Competition mode on.

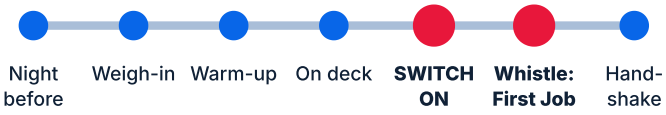

Skill you'll own: Build a Competition Process, a First Job, and a reset loop

MATCH MOMENT

Tournament day. Weigh-ins at 7:00, first match at 11:40, then two hours of waiting before your semi. Fifteen seconds into the semi, you give up the first takedown.

Before you read on: what would YOU do in the next 5 seconds?

MATCH-DAY PROCESS

AFTER ANY SCORE AGAINST YOU: THE RESET LOOP

FROM THE BOOK

Knight teaches a Competition Process to switch from everyday mode into competition mode, which his article calls the BIG-DOG switch. His publisher says mentally tough athletes instantly reset after mistakes, then battle for every inch. [K6 K3 K8]

Find it in your copy: Chapter ____ Page ____

One line from the book that stuck with me (write it, then say it in your own words):

THE SCIENCE

In a meta-analysis, athletes who used a pre-performance routine performed better, and the effect held under pressure (g = 0.70). Simple routines worked as well as complex ones (Rupprecht et al., 2021). Process goals beat outcome goals for performance by a wide margin (d = 1.36 vs. 0.09; Williamson et al., 2022). [S14 S9]

RETEST

Finish Line: Five Cs

Same scale, same honesty. Growth is information, not a grade.

★ MERRILL

Merrill's Five Cs (from Coach Arnie's packet). Circle 1-10 for how often this shows up in REAL MATCHES, then write one piece of evidence. The total isn't the point. The pattern is.

C	1 = RARELY	10 = EVERY MATCH	EVIDENCE (A REAL MOMENT)
Commitment Dedication to the work and the goal	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Courage Willingness to attempt, engage, and face challenge	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Concentration Keep or return attention to the job	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Control Regulate your response and stay useful	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Confidence Belief supported by preparation, mastery, and evidence	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Compare to your Starting Line (p. 03). Which C moved most? What evidence explains the change? (Moving down can mean you got more honest. That counts.)

FINISH LINE / NEXT START

The Gap, Revisited

Go back to your Gap Map (Unit 1). Re-rate the same skills from memory first, then compare.

SKILL	MATCH-ME THEN	MATCH-ME NOW	EVIDENCE (A REAL MATCH MOMENT)

FOR COACHES

Running YOU University

Short teaching, real reps, athlete choice. About 10 minutes a week of room time.

WEEKLY RHYTHM

MON · 5 min	Read the Match Moment aloud. Ask "what would you do?" before teaching. Athletes do the Learn page.
TUE-WED	Build page at home or in study hall. Fold Mat Test A or B into an existing live drill; don't add a new block.
THU · 2 min	Rewind out loud, no notes. Retrieval is the learning event, not a quiz grade [S15].
MEET	Competition Card only. No new teaching at mat-side.
NEXT MON	Film Room, then pick the next unit.

SUGGESTED SEASON MAP

Week 0	Start Here + Starting Line + Unit 1
Weeks 1-2	Unit 2 Love Nerves + Unit 3 Breath (pair them; breath is the body side of nerves)
Week 3	Unit 4 BIG DOG Talk
Week 4	Halftime Check + Unit 5 Bank the Proof
Week 5	Unit 6 Go-Time
Week 6	Unit 7 Flip the Switch, before your first big tournament
Week 7+	Capstone + Competition Card; Practice Log + Film Room all season
Postseason	Finish Line retest (Five Cs + Gap)

AUTONOMY-SUPPORTIVE COACHING [S16]

Offer choices (A or B), explain the why, acknowledge that it's hard, and recognize specific effort. Buy-in comes from choice, competence, and belonging, not from pressure.

MERRILL RECOGNITION TEMPLATE

Observation → program word → why it matters → next reinforcement.

"You gave up the first score, reset immediately, and attacked the next exchange. That is Resilient. Keep using the same reset."

GUARDRAILS

- This is performance training, not therapy. Self-ratings are not diagnoses.
- Never require personal disclosure. Allow written, verbal, or private answers.
- Mental toughness never means hiding pain, injury, or concussion symptoms.
- Follow WIAA/NFHS weight-management rules. Never praise unsafe cutting.
- If an athlete shares something that worries you, follow school referral procedures (counselor, AD, parent).
- Breathing drills: stop if dizzy, and never compete in breath-holding.
- Little Dog Drill (Unit 4): wrestling-only lines. Nothing personal, ever.

What's Verified, What Isn't

This workbook doesn't pretend to know what's on pages we haven't read.

VERIFIED from the publisher	4th ed. (Edition 4.0), 164 pp., 7 chapters, Let's Win! International, ISBN 979-8-9882909-4-0 [K1]. The book focuses on competing, so athletes perform in competition as well as or better than in practice [K2].
VERIFIED Knight concepts	Love Nerves (Tactic #1) and the BIG-DOG switch [K3]; adrenaline as fuel and systematic breathing [K4]; confidence vs. mental toughness [K5]; Gut Breathing, BIG-DOG self-talk, Go-Time Visualization, BIG-DOG highlight reel, Competition Process [K6]; little dog / BIG Dog [K7]; instant reset [K8].
NOT verified	The book's chapter titles, chapter order, and which chapter covers which concept. Some concepts come from Knight's masterclass and articles, which use the book's language, so they may be organized differently in the book itself.
Independently developed	Every YOU-labeled exercise, Mat Test, reflection, and Rewind question in this workbook, plus the unit order. None of it is from the book.

MERRILL LANGUAGE USED (MERRILL WRESTLING TERMS COMPENDIUM V1.0)

Verified: CPR3 (Consistent, Persistent, Resilient, Relentless, Respectful); the Five Cs; Coach Arnie's 4-4-4-4 breath; Practice Focus, Pillar Focus, "How will I show up today?", Went Well, Improve, Gratitude Trio; "KEEP WRESTLING - EVERYDAY IS A NEW MATCH!"; YOU University. Project terms: Today's 1%, First Job, Cue, If-Then Plan, Competition Card, Confidence Bank, What Works for Me. "Be You" per coach. Deliberately NOT used: an expansion of "BVOU," and legacy technique terms awaiting coach verification.
